Coming Up This Sunday:

The Book of Daniel

Daniel 2:17-28

Part 4: "The Sovereignty of God"

Tomorrow we continue our sermon series out of the Book of Daniel! In part 4, we'll examine Daniel's prayer of thanksgiving to God. It's packed with some incredible praise towards God... and some profound insight into the Sovereignty of God: His rule over nature, over time, and over all the kings of the earth. We'll do a deep dive into what the Bible says about the relationship between God's Sovereignty and Human choice, and reflect on the deep comfort that comes from trusting the wisdom of God.

Daniel's prayer of praise is a wonderful example to us today: and points us towards the importance of our Loyalty to the King of Kings and willingness to stand up courageously for Him.

Once again, we'll be asking our core question for this series: How do we navigate this life in such a way that we don't just survive, but thrive as the people of God living in a strange land?

God has great blessings in store for us as we study these life-giving principles! I hope you can all join us in-person or on the livestream!

Faith That Triumphs

Life is full of challenges. Some are expected; others are unforeseen. In every season, we face decisions, uncertainties, and trials that test our resolve. But through faith in God, we can rise above fear, experience peace in the midst of difficulties, and rest in the confidence of God's promises. His Word gives us strength, direction, and hope, reminding us that we are never alone in the trials we face.

No matter what you face, your faith can triumph.
